Savings

With our proprietary software solution and a combination of front office operations in New York and back-office operations in India, Intercom offers very specialized services with considerable cost advantage to a tune of 30-60% over in-house or outsourced e-publishing works. Printing houses, Libraries, Scanning vendors, OCR vendors and Data Coding and Indexing companies nationwide have found our process to be a cost-effective way to manage their e-publishing requirements without sacrificing the control that is essential for a successful outcome. We work with you to develop an approach that will meet your needs and budget.

We aim at servicing US Based e-publishing vendors instead of approaching the end client directly. In the present global business slowdown, especially in Information Technology field, there is a much greater need for better quality offering with competitive cost advantage. We have designed a package for US based e-publishing bureaus to help them offer better services at reduced cost to their clients.
